The conference is organized by the DHTA – Danish History Teachers' Association in cooperation with EUROCLIO. We would like to support the VISA application of the aforementioned participant, a representative of the AAHE (Armenian Association of History Educators), in order for him/her to attend the conference.

The course is embedded in the 22nd EUROCLIO Annual Conference, which aims to bring together around 120 History Educators from all of Europe and beyond for a rich and active programme of 6 days, filled with debated, discussions, presentations, workshops, on-site study visits to commemoration sites, schools and educational establishments, city tours and receptions and a social-cultural programme that connects colleagues internationally in a fun and friendly way.

The Danish History Teachers' Association is the voice of history teachers in secondary schools and is independent of economic interests. The organization was established by history educators for history educators. The association organizes training for history teachers nationwide by residential courses, regional courses and courses abroad. The association participates actively in international cooperation, including EUROCLIO and the EUSTORY network, and supports the diffusion of democratic history teacher associations and educational resources. The association was active in a variety of regions such as Western Europe, Black Sea, Balkans since 2001, in cooperation with EUROCLIO, holds rich experience with running projects in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Croatia, and Serbia, financed by the Danish Ministry of Foreign Affairs. The projects supported the founding of NGO History Teachers' Associations, the development of progressive history education, and regional cooperation and understanding. There are 1600 teachers, professors and other professionals working in education who are members of the association. The Danish History Teachers' Association is the full Member Association of EUROCLIO with whom the conference is EUROCLIO promotes a responsible and innovative teaching of history based on multi-perspectivity, critical thinking, mutual respect, and the inclusion of controversial issues.
